Senior Citizens' Homes Are Practical Units

Constructed and operated in a manner that encourages maintenance of personal dignity and independence, Alberta's homes for Senior Citizens in 50 provincial communities are rapidly opening for residents.

The one storey, U-shaped buildings are designed along contemporary lines. The base of the "U" houses a well equipped kitchen adjoining a bright modern dining room. The dining room is furnished with tables and chairs seating four. The generous use of glass along the wall provides a bright and cheery atmosphere.

Extending from the dining room is a large sitting room tastefully furnished and dominated by a large stone fireplace bordered with knotty pine. Four additional smaller sitting rooms are located throughout the building. Each arm of the "U" contains single and double rooms, accommodating 25 persons. Each well furnished room is equipped with a washbowl and toilet and each wing is equipped with a bath. A patio and lawn are enclosed within the three sides of the building.

To date 31 contracts have been let for construction of the homes. Of these 14 have been completed and it is expected the balance will be in operation this summer. A staff of five is required to operate a unit. Cost to resident is $65.00 per month for a single room. Each home will accommodate 50 residents.

The cost per home to the Province averages $170,000.00, according to location. Approximate additional cost for furnishing and fixtures is $30,000.00.

Formal opening ceremonies are planned for early October.

A. An exterior view of the residence at Ponoka showing the attractive design of the building.

B. The dining and sitting rooms are brightly lit by the use of large windows along one side.

D. A double room is furnished with mahogany dresser and chairs and decorated in rich pastel shades. A double window overlooks the grounds.

Mrs. Albert Raymond is sentimental. Each time she visits her bank Safety Deposit Box she scolds herself for not having her old fashioned family jewelry re-set . . . but somehow she hasn't the heart to change it. So it stays with her papers and securities, safe in the bank vault.

Ellen Ramsay doesn't own a diamond yet . . . but she'll have one soon in an engagement ring. Like most girls she has plans for marriage and her growing Savings Account in The Canadian Bank of Commerce is earmarked for wedding expenses and purchases for her first home.

Precious jewels from the past . . . happy plans for the future . . . The Canadian Bank of Commerce helps protect both. Whatever banking services you need you can be sure they are readily available at any branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Of Many Things by Ambrose Hills

POLITICS

Manitobans love to talk politics. That was one of the first things that struck me when moving back home to this beautiful province. Manitobans, like Maritimers, seem to think that good times or bad times depend on who holds the reins at Ottawa.

They don't have complete faith in this notion, because they still plant good seed on well-fertilized soil, and they pray for rain or sun in proper order, and they open their shops early and serve customers well. There is always though, even while "keeping the powder dry," a sort of child-like idea that the end result of all this enterprise will depend not on sun or rain or service, but on Ottawa.

Let the weather be bad or the world trading situation worsen -- and there has to be a change at Ottawa!

You don't get too far trying to argue that this is foolish -- that Ottawa can't make the sun shine or the rains come. Try it and you run into some of those exceptions that prove the rule -- such as the $49,000,000 in acreage payments showered out of the Ottawa sky for prairie grain growers. If Mr. Diefenbaker could have made that a downpour, instead of a shower, (126 millions might have been considered a pretty good shower, close to a downpour, he'd be sitting pretty with the Manitoba electorate right now. As it is, he's advanced a few pegs, but there's still not enough sub-solo moisture to assure his popularity.

Of course, this does not apply to individual Manitobans. Any single one of them would say, "This is crazy talk. Ottawa can't grow my grain or build my house or do much else but make the laws. The really important thing, the production of wealth, is undertaken by me and my neighbors."

And, of course, that is true Ottawa's big job should be encouragement of the production of wealth, not the confiscation and redistribution of it. But the men at Ottawa seem to think that while individuals are sensible, voters as a group are not. "We've got to make them think we made the sun shine, even if it costs them their luncheon," say the politicians -- and politicians may be amusing, but they're not fools.

Teachers Off To Nigeria

(St. Catharines Standard)

Living 5,500 miles away from home, and working with African tribes, is not new to two local teachers.

Miss Carlotta Bolton, 32, of Louth township, and Marion Lehman, 33, of Vineland, leave Monday by plane for the eastern and western parts of Nigeria, West Africa, where they are employed as teachers.

Miss Lehman has already spent 6½ years in various schools throughout the western and central part of Nigeria, and Miss Bolton has spent 2 years teaching in a girls' secondary school in the little village of Nkwere.

Railroad Town
Miss Lehman first went to Nigeria in 1952, where she taught in an African school in Jebba, 250 miles from the coastal city of Lagos, for two years. In this railroad town of about 2,000 natives, she taught children from eight different tribes. She was the only white person on the teaching staff.

She later moved to another African boarding school in Zuru, 250 miles further north, where she taught English.

In 1955, she was transferred by the United Missionary Society to Jos, a city of 12,000 in the central plateau region of Nigeria. Here she taught children of the European missionaries and educated Nigerians.

Only Five There
This time, she plans to tutor for three or four years in a teacher training college in Igbetti, where there are only five Europeans. Most of her students will be Nigerians, who will eventually teach in African schools.

"We talk of the shortage of teachers in Canada, yet the need is small in comparison with Nigeria," Miss Lehman said.

"The Nigerians are hungry for education and will read anything they can get their hands on."

"Most of the children have only a small fraction of the opportunities Canadian children have. Many parents can't afford to send their children to school, and when they can, the teachers, in many cases, are not fully qualified."

Miss Lehman was born in Kitchener and moved to Vineland with her parents in June. She attended Stratford Teachers College and taught school in Kitchener for five years. Before going to Nigeria, she attended Bethel College in Michawaka, Ind., for one year.

When Miss Bolton left the village of Nkwere which had become her second home, she knew she would eventually go back. Since her return to Canada a year last June, she has corresponded regularly with the students and staff.

"You can't help but think of how they're getting along and what they're doing," she said.

Named After City

St. Catharines School where she taught was named after her "home-town," and had its first graduating class last December. When she returns -- this time for 16 months -- she will replace an African member of the staff.

During the past year, Miss Bolton has been teaching English and history in a high school in North Bay. This summer she studied three English courses at the University of Toronto to help her in her work in Nigeria.

"I wanted to be in Nigeria when the country receives its independence from the United Kingdom," she said. "The Nigerian people have been working for their independence for years, and this October their dream will at last be realized."

Steady Training

"The Nigerians have always been keenly nationalistic, confident and interested in running their own affairs. There has been a steady process of training and educating the people to accept their new responsibilities."

"Since 1958, the federal house has been filled with only Africans and there has been a steady withdrawal of Europeans from the civil service and more handing over to the Africans," Miss Bolton said.

"There will never be the friction in Nigeria which exists in the Belgian Congo today. There is no problem of whites dominating Africans."

"In Nigeria, there are 33,000,000 natives and only a minority of whites, and the relations between the two have always been friendly."

Miss Carlotta Bolton is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boulton of Coleman.

Alberta Govt. To Participate In Winter Works Program

The Government of Alberta has decided again to participate in the Municipal Winter Works Incentive Program. This was announced today by Honorable A. J. Hooke, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Minister responsible for the operation of the program in Alberta. Mr. Hooke stated that the Province will again provide a further incentive as in past years by paying twenty-five per cent of the labor costs of approved projects. In terms of value of projects undertaken and also payroll costs Mr. Hooke pointed out that Alberta stood third among Canadian provinces. He expressed the hope that this record will be equalled or surpassed this coming season.

Projects undertaken may be commenced not earlier than December 1st, the starting date of the program and work can continue to April 30th, next.

Mr. Hooke said that as claims are still coming in final figures as to the extent of last year's program were not yet available. Indications are, however, that approximately $2,100,000.00 will have been paid to municipalities when the program is finally completed August 31st with the Federal Government paying $1,400,000.00 and the Province $700,000.00.

Preliminary estimates show that a total of 373 projects in Alberta were approved with an estimated total value of $12,000,000.00. The various projects are estimated to have employed 7,750 men and to have provided 301,000 man days of work.

The terms of offer of the 1960-61 program have been broadened to cover municipal buildings (excluding schools and hospitals) and also allow for the building of municipal structures such as water towers and pumping stations. Details of the forthcoming program are now being prepared and will be forwarded to all municipalities within the next few days.

Junior Red Cross Meets In Banff

BANFF, Alta., Aug. 25.—At opening sessions of the Junior Red Cross workshop in the Banff School of Fine Arts Thursday, Red Cross teachers from points throughout Alberta and Saskatchewan chose Ron Campbell of Yorkton, Sask. to head the student body for the week-long training course. Junior members also named Lynda Rowsell of Edmonton secretary for the study centre.

Aimed at developing leaders in Junior Red Cross units and acquainting teen-agers with the many facets of the Junior Red Cross program, the workshop is under the joint direction of Mrs. Beth Norgren, Alberta Junior Red Cross and Miss Hazel Lawrence, Director of the Saskatchewan Junior Red Cross program.

Receive Greetings
Close to 100 Red Cross youth members attending the training course received greetings from the senior Red Cross through Lt.-Col. D. H. Tomlinson of Calgary, Alberta Red Cross Commissioner. He urged the young people to be ambassadors for Red Cross in their respective communities.

During the afternoon students got an intimate glimpse of the operation and scope of the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service when Dr. Eric Nation, Medical Director of the Calgary blood transfusion depot, explained the various blood groups and uses for blood and outlined the process of "cross-matching" blood which is done in Red Cross laboratories.

"Human blood does not grow on trees, nor can it be bought for dollars. It is provided by countless of our best citizens who are determined in their practical way to hold out their hand of friendship to their fellow-men," he told delegates in conclusion.

The Red Cross youth workers were also given a vivid picture of Red Cross in action in world disaster areas as they viewed films, listened to tape recordings and heard the "International Story" told by Mrs. Norgren, Miss Muriel Seiske, Saskatchewan Field Organizer, and Mrs. Annel Mumford, Organizer for the Red Cross youth program in Alberta. Stresses Emergency Role

Mrs. Norgren stressed the need for Red Cross to be constantly prepared for any emergency and cited the recent tragic incident in Morocco where Red Cross is carrying on treatment of hundreds of persons paralyzed through consumption of poisonous cooking oil. She also touched on the earthquake disaster in Chile which required immediate Red Cross assistance in the form of clothing, bedding and medical supplies.

The refugee story and the problems still facing thousands of home less people despite World Refugee Year, were outlined by Miss Seiske who illustrated her talk with a refugee film.

Mrs. Mumford described the scope and purpose of the Junior Red Cross international program which she explained was three-fold in that it provided health needs and emergency supplies for immediate distribution to disaster areas, also furnished funds for establishment of long-term self-help projects and provided for special projects involving both immediate aid and long-term assistance.

Alberta Junior Red Cross members contributed $10,000 for World Refugee Year.

Junior Forest Wardens Attend Training School

Sixteen Junior Forest Wardens from clubs at Slave Lake, Edson and Hinton recently attended a week long training school at the new Alberta Forest Training School at Hinton. The course conducted by foresters of the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests, included instruction on Forest Service conservation methods and fire protection demonstrations. The Junior Wardens were taken on tours of the North-western Pulp and Paper Plant at Hinton, a pulp camp in the area and a sawmill near Obed.

A highlight of the school was an overnight camping trip on which the students were required to maintain themselves under the same conditions a Ranger would on an inspection trip.

Junior Wardens were sent to the course by their home town sponsoring organization and accompanied by the club leader. The school was sponsored by the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests with instructors from the Department's Edmonton Headquarters.

Car Hub Cap Regulation

"Regarding the recent Regulation passed by the Highway Traffic Board in connection with hub caps, I wish to advise that the whole purpose of the Regulation was simply to protect the public," said Hon. Gordon Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways today. "We have no objections to any type of spinner or wheel disc, providing it does not represent a potential danger to other persons."

The Regulation reads, "An ornament or device known to the trade as 'Spinner wheel discs' where the spinner is equipped with blades, fins or spikes protruding outward from the wheel and is likely to cause injury to persons that may come in contact with same."

"It should be made abundantly clear that the Regulation does not forbid spinners of any kind unless they have protruding spikes that could cause injury to pedestrians or the property or person of others," said Mr. Taylor.

From 1956 to 1958 sales of shopping centres in Canada doubled. The 1959 figure is expected to show an even greater increase.
